CARNELODRAMA - The sound of gunfire early Sunday morning as police went about apprehending a local lad who broke a window at the Benux Arts Studio and Camera Shop, Ocean and Lincoln ... an attempt to steal camera equipment, police said.

Villagers and visitors shedding crocodile tears outside the Pine Inn where they watched a shining, brand new convertible Olds going up in smoke ... the collective groan as a firefighter bashed in a window and sprayed the new upholstery with foam.

Street cleaners appearing on every corner early Monday a.m. ... so numerous they look like invading soldiers who have just been parachuted into town.

Got a call from three people who attended the last movie of the Carmel Film Society. "A Worthy institution and it could be handled well," they said, but the sound and imaging could have been better. Biggest complaint had to do with noisy children.

Did anyone notice that the Canadian sailors looked more at home in the village than Americans? It must be our English countryside architecture. When the fleet comes in people usually start closing their shutters (remember the San Diego lady who during the war put out a sign: "Dogs and sailors, keep off the grass!"), but the 600 officers and men of HMCS ONTARIO were above reproach. Localites enjoyed their company.

Apologies to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Jr., and Noel Sullivan. An editorial last week in this paper congratulated those Carmel Valley residents who opened their homes to the Guide Dogs for the Blind Tour. A typographical error was the reason that the above named were not mentioned.

During the Centennial, visitors will see Governor Earl Warren, of California, deliver a commemorative address on the actual site of the signing of the constitution which created his office. That was 100 years ago at Monterey's Colton Hall.

Pearl at the Pine Inn bar pulled the funny of the year a few days ago. Undecided as to whether to answer the ringing telephone or wait on a couple who just sat at a table, she decided on the couple ... went up and startled them with this greeting: "Hello! Cocktail lounge!" Wonder what she would have said if she had answered the telephone..

We have a little cardboard sign out in front of our office that says "The SPECTATOR ... On Sale Now." Staffers were nonplussed last Saturday when someone came into the office who wanted to buy the building. The upshot ... we will soon have a nice big redwood sign (conforming to Carmel taste) with our masthead engraved thereon.

Discerning Discs

by Henry Dunakin

Mozart's "Divertimento No. 11, k. 251," appears in two important pressings. First to consider is read by the Berlin Philharmonic Chamber Orchestra, under the baton of Hans von Benda (DGS-4). A small string orchestra is used, as is often the case with Mozart's divertimenti. The oboist could clean his performance up a bit and the reading as a whole is too weighty. As a parting complaint, why did von Benda omit the delightful last movement?

The second set is that of the Dumbarton Oaks Chamber Orchestra, led by Alexander Schneider and featuring Mitchell, oboist (Merc-4 or LP). This group follows the original scoring for oboe, two horns, and string quartet. In addition, the final movement, "Marcia all Francese," is included. Mr. Mitchell's playing is impeccable, the entire interpretation fresh and vibrant.

GLAZUNOV

Excepting a couple of ballet suites, the tremendous output of Glazunov's music is all but unknown to American audiences. One of Russia's "Mighty Five," his influence upon that country's nationalistic composers was very strong. Rimsky-Korsakov, Stravinsky and many others studied his works seriously. Therefore, it is indeed a valued welcome to have his "Symphony No. 4" represented in the domestic catalogs (Capitol Classics). The Orchestra of the Academy of Santa Cecilia, Rome, is brilliantly led by Jacques Rachmilovich, former conductor of the Santa Monica Symphony. The composition itself is a prize for all persons interested in the folk elements of modern works. The performance throughout is excellent.

BRITTEN

The "Seven Sonnets of Michelangelo" is another result from the prolific feather of Benjamin Britten. These songs are probably the most exemplary representations of this type of art to be found in today's repertoire. Though they stand little chance of ever gaining general appeal the chamber enthusiasts will immediately take them to heart. Peter Pears, tenor, remains the ideal interpreter for this composer's style and with Mr. Britten at the piano a definitive reading is assured. Congratulations to HMV for its continued waxing of contemporary works.

FRANCAIX

The oft-bitter tang found in the modern French school is surely abundant in the "Concertino for Piano and Orchestra" by Jean Francaix. The composer at the piano, ably supported by Berlin's Philharmonic directed by Leo Bochner (Telefunken), turns in a lucid performance that is both sarcastic and humorous - no small part of which is accomplished through ingenious back-talks from a barrage of wind instruments. This disc is a valuable gem quite likely to get lost in the surrounding rubbish.

WHO IS IT?

This is one of a series of photographs of people you should know. All persons pictured are from the Monterey Peninsula and will be someone you meet almost every day, because they are in public life. For the answer to this week's "Who is it?" turn to page 15

Frederic Taubes, one of America's outstanding painters and a leading authority on the technique of painting, opened his course as visiting instructor at the Carmel Art Institute with a lecture at the Carmel Art Association Galleries last Monday evening.

There will be a second lecture at the Galleries on Aug. 29, - the topic, "Fashions in Art." He has recently been elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Art in London, an honor rarely bestowed upon an American citizen.

EXECUTES PAINTING FOR CENNTENNIAL

An original oil painting for the cover of the program for "Beginnings of Statehood," the elaborate historical pageant which will keynote the Constitutional Convention Centennial Celebration here Aug. 29 through Sept. 5, has been created and presented to the California Centennials Commission.

Abel G. Warshawsky, member of the Carmel Art Association, is the creator. His concept shows a shadowy figure of Fray Junipero Serra with arms upraised in blessing. Below Thomas O. Larkin, American Consul in Monterey during those critical times 100 years ago, holds a scroll of the Constitution, with General Riley, the military governor of the territory of California at his left. In shadowy background is Colton Hall as it is today, with figures of inhabitants of the pueblo on the lawn in front of the building.

The original is painted in warm blue, yellow and green, with the adobe grey of Colton Hall in the background. Color plates will reproduce the artist's work in full detail.

Mr. Warshawsky, decorated by France with the Legion of Honor, has been painting in Europe for many years. Some of his work hangs in the Luxembourg Museum; he is one of few Americans to be so honored. His favorite painting spot is Brittany, and his canvases depicting the French countryside now hang in the Reinhardt Gallery. He has many one-man shows to his credit and is considered one of the important contemporary artists.

Mr. Warshawsky, born in Sharon, Pa., of Polish heritage, attended the Cleveland Art School, won a scholarship for the Art Students League in New York, and later attended the Julian Art Academy in France.

DAY or NIGHT

A typical scene at the Carmel Post Office, where villagers go to see their neighbors and talk over the latest happenings. They also pick up their mail, because there is no delivery in Carmel.

While Jess Duval, left, shoots letters through the stamp cancellation machine, Ray Benson, in background, sorts outgoing mail, and Irene Scharven, foreground, faces letters before they go through the cancelling machine.

The above scene is all too familiar to motorists. Of course it's the Carmel Post Office, where people not only wait in line to get their mail, but wait in their cars before they can get inside to wait in line. However, no one complains about the crowded conditions. What better way to see your friends every day?

A busy place, the parcel post window. William Woolsey and Edna Edwards take care of you here. That machine in the foreground is a new one. All you have to do is set the amount of stamps you need for a package and out comes the stamp all ready to be pasted to the package.

With that array of P.O. boxes to be filled every day at the Post Office, you can't blame anyone too much when letters get in the wrong boxes. Edna Edwards is seen above.

Jess Duval sorts packages that are on their way out of Carmel.

This corner, with its parcel post window, letter drops and convenient leaning place for those who cannot wait to read their letters when they get outside, is a popular spot.

Editorials

If we have ever seen an example of pussy-footing government, we saw it last week in the "Board of Adjustments" session of the Carmel Planning Commission. The rule seems to be "with certain members of the commission that they should never do today what can be put off until tomorrow."

Virginia Stanton, as noted in last week's SPECTATOR, requested that her Normandy Cottages at Ocean and Casanova be legalized for hotel and apartment rental. Her request was within the framework of our city ordinances; it was agreed that the cottages are aesthetically up to snuff. In the long time that they have actually been in use for transient lodging (prior to the recent crackdown on guest house owners in the residential area of Carmel), not one complaint has ever been made about the conduct of guests at the Normandy Cottages. Not one resident of Carmel showed up at the hearing to protest Mrs. Stanton's request.

We are not only puzzled that the hearing was held over till next month, but were shocked at Donald Craig's statement that the planning commission would be "establishing a dangerous precedent" if it were to say yes to Mrs. Stanton. Since the law provides for just such cases as the Normandy Cottages, it seems more dangerous to us that the commission (two or three members, anyway) is even hesitating in this case.

Our city ordinances were written to be used. In fact, some of our ordinances are being adhered to with a vehemence lately.

Mr. Craig also said, in answer to a statement that no one showed up to protest the requested use permit, that people generally leave such matters up to the governing bodies they chose in the first place.

We wonder if Mr. Craig attended the Carmel Town Meeting. We saw Mr. McCreery there, sitting all by himself in the Sunset School Auditorium balcony. He wasn't too high and far away to get the idea of what was going on.

He did not come right out and say he disapproved of the request for a use permit at Normandy Cottages, but he seemed awfully anxious to postpone the hearing.

SUMRAL OTRICH

People usually find their way into Sumral Otrich's Candles of Carmel by following their noses. Located in the Golden Bough Court, the shop advertises itself when the wind is right by attracting potential customers with the certain scents of the many types of candles carried in stock.

Mr. Otrich found his way to Carmel in much the same manner as many residents: he visited the village once and made up his mind that some day he would live here. His first visits were made during two summer vacations in 1914 and 1915 when he attended College of Pacific, then located at San Jose. Ocean Avenue was "a dusty road and a few pine trees" in those days, he recalls.

"If I had known better I would have bought the whole street," he said recently. "That is, if I had had the money back in those days."

Mr. Otrich took over his shop in January of this year, but he has been an "off and on" resident of Carmel from way back. In fact, he has owned property here for six years.

Born in a small Illinois town, he came west with his mother while still a child and lived most of his life around the San Francisco Bay area. After two years at College of Pacific, he joined the Marines during the first World War and was discharged as a sergeant after serving in the Philippine Islands.

He and his wife, Ruth, were married in 1923 and have two grown children: a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Collins, of Oakland, and a son, Kenneth Otrich, of Santa Rosa. Mr. Otrich was until recently a manufacturer representative for several eastern industrial machinery firms, handling the San Francisco and Oakland territories.

At the end of 1948 he sold his business up north and advertised for a small shop in Carmel. He ended up with a candle shop and took over a business about which he knew nothing, although he wasn't long in catching on. Candles are just candles until you have been in a shop such as his.

They come scented and they come in various shapes: spheres, rectangles, squares and cable twists. Some of them melt down into multi-colors while others, known as character candles, melt down into even odder shapes.

Mr. Otrich says he likes the business. He learns something every day and still has time for swimming and horseback riding, two sports which he feels you cannot hold a candle to.

Administration Drops Fight Against Taft-Hartley Law

Labor Committee of House Unable to Reach an Accord

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—The administration has dropped its fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law during the Eighty-First Congress.

Administration spokesmen have quietly passed the word along that the fight for Taft-Hartley repeal is over for this session of Congress—and probably for the next session as well.

The stumbling block in the way of the measure's repeal has been the House labor committee which has not been able to agree upon a bill satisfactory to a majority of its members.

The new labor bill passed by the Senate is awaiting action by the committee, but will be pigeonholed.

Rep. Andrew Jacobs (D), Indiana, a labor attorney, has tried desperately to bring House members together to discuss a compromise bill but has been able to arouse next to no interest in the project.

Both administration and labor leaders are now convinced that it is impossible to get Congress to pass a repeal of the Taft-Hartley bill which would be acceptable to President Truman.

And so the issue which figured so importantly in the 1948 presidential election will probably be fought out again at the polls in the 1950 congressional balloting.

Washington

● LABOR KITTY WELL FED—There will be more actual cash in labor's 1950 campaign kitty than in any previous year—and this despite the fact that it would ordinarily be considered an "off year" election.

The AFL and CIO are building up impressive reserves to fight their election battles even though the presidential post is not at stake.

Far more vital to labor than the presidency at this point are the seats now held in both the House and the Senate by what these groups consider to be strong anti-labor forces.

To defeat these forces—Senators Robert A. Taft (R), Ohio, and Forrest C. Donnell (R), Missouri, particularly—the AFL plans to seek "voluntary" contributions of two dollars each from its eight million members.

Philip Murray's CIO and its Political Action Committee, however, are not quite so ambitious. The CIO has asked for only one dollar from each of its almost seven million members.

If every member of each organization contributed as requested, the total would come to about 23 million dollars in campaign funds.

That total, of course, does not include money which may be spent in the congressional campaigns by other labor groups, such as John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America.

Contributing money is not all that is being asked of labor union members.

They are also being urged to get out and register now to vote and to continue their uphill fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law in their own communities.

● THE JEEP AND PATRICK HENRY—A "talking" jeep and letters between George Washington and Patrick Henry highlight exhibits at the Library of Congress just now. The jeep, which the library's marble corridors swallowed with apparent nonchalance, is one of the mobile units the State department used abroad to tell the American story. It is equipped with a sound projector, dual-speed phonograph turntable, a radio and tape recorder for recording audience reaction to its programs.

The Washington-Henry letters commemorate the 150-Year-Old death of Patrick Henry 150 years ago. The correspondence indicates that Henry, the patriot of "give me liberty or give me death" fame, opposed ratification of the United States Constitution.

Efforts of Henry and others of like mind to correct what they believed to be defects in the Constitution, led to adoption of the Bill of Rights.

Some visitors have commented that the talking jeep is in itself a fit memorial to Henry because it has been used in the attempt to spread abroad belief in the liberty he loved so well.

La Playa Ranch Buffet Sept. 18th To Spur Carmel Youth Center

Mayor Fred Godwin's plans for a Carmel Youth Center will receive their biggest boost on Sunday, Sept. 18, when he opens up the La Playa Ranch in Carmel Valley for a day-long buffet and entertainment which is to be sponsored by various Carmel service organizations. Tickets for the affair will cost $5 and Mr. Godwin plans to give a Carmel Valley river front home-site to one of the ticket holders.

Building plans for the Youth Center now call for 3,000 square feet of floor space and Mr. Godwin said yesterday he hopes it will be built for something less than $5 a square foot, which is about half present building costs. Donations of time, labor and material will help keep the costs down.

With a need for about $15,000 to start off, Mr. Godwin said there is $10,000 in the war chest right now. Organizations which will be or have been asked to help at the Sept. 18 benefit are: the Carmel Women's Club, the Parent-Teachers Association, the Lions Club, Carmel Kiwanis, the American Legion and the Carmel Business Association.

A committee will be selected from these organizations, and various concessions at the La Playa Ranch will be arranged.

Mr. Godwin has been making speeches at various organizational meetings and will continue to do so in the future. Some people have indicated their wish to help out with personal donations for the Youth Center and any others are asked to get in touch with him.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

CARMEL CHEST

CHAIRMEN NAMED

The first and only general meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest will be held today at 4 p.m. in the Monterey City Hall.

The following committee chairmen from Carmel have been placed in charge of fund drives: Albert Lester, for the residential section, including Carmel Woods, Hatton Fields and the Mission Tract; Gladys Johnston, for the Carmel business district; and Mrs. Nelson Leoni, for Carmel Valley.

SPCA MEMBERS

LODGE PROTESTS

In a heated meeting last Friday, members of the Monterey County Humane Society went up before the board of directors to register their complaints as to what they considered was wrong with the way the organization is run. The two and one-half hour meeting ended with several constructive plans for improvement.

Not only were "avoidably absent board members to be asked to resign, but two committees were named to carry out work that the protesting members wish done. George W. Simpson and Reginald Foster will propose amendments to the SPCA by-laws, while Miss Marjorie Fontana and Jules Kahof are heading up a finance committee.

Dr. D. T. MacDougal, president of the board, and King Mederos, vice-president, were bombarded with questions as to the operation of the local shelter. Members were mainly interested as to why there had not been more fund-raising drives, and why the board had accepted the resignation of Mr. Kahof, who had been shelter manager 11 years, and apparently worked for less than $200 a month most of the time.

Spearheading the members' action were Dr. Ralph Weston, Countess Claude Kinnoull, Miss Fontana, Mr. Foster and several others. Board members said the financial limitations could also be blamed on the "lack of interest of the members."

The next meeting of the board of directors will be held in regular session Sept. 9, while a meeting for members, at which time the newly-appointed committees will make their reports, will be held Sept. 16 at 4 p.m. in the Monterey City Council Chambers.

VOTERS' DEADLINE SET.

Registration deadline for the special election Nov. 8 is Sept. 15, according to Emmet G. McMenamin, county clerk. Voters will have a chance to decide on the repeal of Proposition Four, a school building bond issue and the question of the daylight savings time policy.

Requirements for registration include residence in the state for one year, the county for 90 days, and the precinct for 54 days. Also, any citizen who failed to vote at both the last primary and the last general election must register to be eligible to vote in the special election.

Following is a list of registration deputies: Carmel; Sam B. Colburn, Pescadero Road, Carmel Woods; Gledhill Radio and Appliance Store, San Carlos and 5th Sts; Stallings Stamp Shop, Dolores near Ocean; Staniford's Drug Store, Ocean and San Carlos, and Robert G. Leidig, Dolores near Ocean.

Pebble Beach: Del Monte Lodge (John B. Powers) Pebble Beach. Carmel Valley: Carmel Valley Realty Co., Pilot Rd. and Carmel Valley Rd.; Mrs. Emelie Girard, Carmel Valley Rt. (Tularcitos).

APPROVE SEWER PLANS.

Cards have been mailed notifying property owners in the southeast section of the Carmel Sanitary District that plans for installing sewers are being readied, according to William H. Satchell, secretary of the board. In the last meeting, the board approved the drawing up of plans and specifications for sewerage Hatton Fields, Hatton Fields Mesa, Walker Tract, Eighty Acres and part of the Mission Tract.

BRIDE & GROOM

SAN FRANCISCO, --- Bay Area audiences saw as well as heard ABC's famous "Bride and Groom" program Tuesday when KGO-TV presented for the first time on television a sample showing of the coast-to-coast radio favorite featuring M.C. John Nelson and Jack McElroy.

Shown on Channel 7 at 8 p.m., the video version of "Bride and Groom" portrayed - as has the radio show through four years of broadcasting - a true story of romance, told by the couple who lived it on their wedding day.

The half-hour telecast presented M.C. Nelson introducing his 997th bride and groom. Immediately following their own account of how they wooed and won, the couple was married in a nearby chapel.

KGO-TV viewers also had a first look at the romantic wedding setting, the elaborate gifts and honeymoon plans characteristic of the program.

Jack McElroy, genial host of ABC's "Breakfast in Hollywood," provided the customary setting for the event when he sang the love song chosen by the bridal pair.

The familiar trained seal act, indispensable to any circus or carnival, found its beginning right here on the Monterey Peninsula, but who caught the first seal?

Who Dun It??

Capt. W. A. Winston, who was brought up in Pacific Grove and remembers when he used to go rabbit hunting on what are now the Monterey Fairgrounds, is bringing his trained seals (actually sealions, we are informed) back to his old stamping grounds. After touring the world and spending 30 years in Europe with his seal act, the captain will appear in the Monterey Fair - the act sponsored partially by four automobile dealers: Bill Beattie, Ivan Merrill and Clyde Young, of Monterey, and George Gaudin, of Salinas.

Everyone seems to have a different story as to how the first seal was caught, but it is agreed that it happened somewhere near Pacific Grove back in the 1890's.

One story goes like this: Some 40 to 50 years ago a Chinese caught the seal in his fish net and sold it to Mr. Winston's father, who owned a restaurant in Pacific Grove. It was discovered that the seal could do tricks (providing it got plenty of fish), and the incident developed into a business. Capt. Winston says he started the first seal act and rented it out to various big-name circuses.

Dr. A. G. Hart, Monterey dentist, claims his father, Dr. Andrew Jackson Hart, who was a physician in Pacific Grove, caught the seal and gave it to Mr. Winston in payment for a restaurant bill. The rest of the story is essentially the same.

But Mrs. David Berwick, of Pacific Grove, refutes this story. She says the seal was caught by a group of small boys and kept in a pen on the beach where it received its first training.

Some of the names she mentioned were W. R. Holman, Roy Wright, Arthur Winston, Ray Faulkner and (Capt.) W. A. Winston. Sound familiar? Those were the "boys" she says caught the first seal that was ever trained for tricks.

Which story is true? Maybe you can find out at the Monterey County Fair, Aug. 27-30.

GIVES ADVANCE FASHION REPORT

Paris, New York, San Francisco - the leading designers in the fashion world's great centers were represented by originals and outstanding modifications at the advance autumn fashion show held last week in the beautiful Solarium of Holman's, Pacific Grove.

Some 200 members of the U.S. Line School Navy Wives' Club sat enthralled as the entire fashion picture from the morning lounging hours to the glamorous formals of midnight paraded before them. Each model had a story told with clarity and charm by a commentator whose reputation as a fashion authority places her in the top bracket of experts - Mrs. W. R. Holman.

Just returned from the New York, Chicago and San Francisco fashion markets, Mrs. Holman's picture on the form, texture and color of Fall Fashions emphasized:

Animation! "Clothes this autumn and winter will first and foremost dramatize you," she said. "Designers may inspire and conspire, but the accent will be achieved by you - as you live your life, and love your clothes...Dior's swinging panels, the extensive use of pleats, winged shoulders, sleeves all of a piece with the blouse allowing freedom - these are the details that add up to the new look of animation..."

Color! Red, brilliant fire red, yellowed tomato red, sparkling burgundy - red you will wear, if you can, not merely as an accent. You will see red coats, red suits, red dresses - morning, noon and night. Golds, from blonde beige to deep copper run a close second. Moss green is a grand accent color, particularly in hats, scarves and bags.

Texture of 1949-50 spells luxury. Velvet, velveteen, polished broadcloth, satin that stands alone, taffeta, and, for tailored suits and coats, gabardine, and covert with all the hard finish flat surface associated with the aristocrats of the riding habit.

Finally, the silhouette of the American fashionable. Through weeks of observation at fashion shows "for the trade," long days in the New York market and, on her way home, personal surveys of the leading fashion stores' highlighted fashions, Mrs. Holman has brought to the Peninsula beautiful, wearable clothes at what Vogue terms "young prices."

"Borrowing all the glamour of the Paris picture," Mrs. Holman told her listeners, "the American designers emphasize the new narrow silhouette. The narrow hip line, achieved by artful draping, pockets, pleats; the un-padded or little padded shoulder, brought about by an absence of shoulder seams, or by a return to the raglan sleeve; upturned neck-band collars, a marked absence of frills and trimmings"...And the skirt length? "Thirteen inches from the floor!"

Throughout the afternoon, in the sunny daffodil-and-young-green walled solarium whose vast windows afford a superb view of the Bay of Monterey, as Mrs. Holman told the story of irresistible interest to women, the models paraded, and the commentator was happily interrupted by the enthusiastic applause and oh's and ah's of the spectators.

The models, members of the Navy Wives Club, included: Mrs. F. P. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. A. B. Drachnik, Mrs. J. L. Hanson (secretary of the Club), Mrs. A. P. Pomati, Mrs. K. R. Wheland, and Miss Karen Wheland.

It was more than a fashion show, it was a fashion clinic. Lingerie and accessories were not neglected. Showing superb imported and domestic hand bags in everything from saddle leather to snakeskin to suede Mrs. Holman gave her listeners invaluable "trade" tips... "To rejuvenate your precious leathers," she said, "use what Saks Fifth Avenue leather technicians use - Johnson's Glocoat! It will save you dollars and save those precious leathers..." From her notes on the Good Housekeeping Clinic put on for the National Retail Drygoods Association of New York City, Mrs. Holman advised - "Buy laboratory tested mylons, rayons and silks. We stock them for you and live up to all the guarantees..."

The show was followed by tea at which Mrs. Arthur Johnson, president of the Club, and Mrs. F. D. Strook poured.

Upon their departure the guests were invited to view the mammoth three-tiered birthday cake honoring the 58th anniversary of Holman's, the Peninsula's oldest family owned institution.

Country Club NEWS

Seen in the Lanai and around the candy-stripe umbrellas at the Rancho Del Monte Country Club:

At a no-hostess luncheon - Mrs. Kenneth Ray, Mrs. Jack Abernathy, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. W. W. Coates, Mrs. Medine Shelton, and Mrs. Arthur Gergen, of Carmel, lunching with Mrs. Frank Barr, of Bakersfield, and Mrs. Charles Edwards, of Los Angeles. Later, card fan, Frank Porter, joined Mrs. Abernathy and Mrs. Edwards in a game of bridge.

Canasta foursome in the Lanai... Mrs. Louise Grigsby, Robles del Rio; Mrs. R. L. Simarack and Mrs. John Hilliard, Rancho del Monte; Mrs. Bert Doolittle, of Carmel.

Lounging in swing chairs... Mrs. Muri Ogden, of Carmel, now occupying the Dr. Brownell home in Robles for the summer, and Mrs. C. R. Parker, of Carmel, watching their sons, Richard Ogden and Gordon Ridgely, swimming in the pool.

Retired consuls from various posts, with wives, reminisce while lunching in the Lanai. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. C. Caldwell, Robles del Rio, entertained Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Frost from San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles De Vault of southern California.

Frequent visitors to the Club... Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rudolph and Mrs. Harold McLean with their families. Enthusiastic swimmers and sun-bathers and almost daily visitors to the pool are the Jack Daughertys of Monterey.

Enjoying barbecue... Wademar Funke, wife and children, Will and Freddie, just returned from Santa Barbara.

Distinguished visitor... Fleetwood Lawton, news analyst, and wife, Penny.

Group of young divers in the pool... Jere Cummings, Don Cum-minga, Don Weber, Pat Green and Barbara Verga competing with Jack and Gene Wisley, of Salinas, who, by the way, are now spending the summer with their parents, the Horace Wisleys of Robles del Rio.

Sunbathing on the lawn at the Club... Mr. and Mrs. Don Cummings, with guests, Mrs. David Bolton and daughter, Janet, and Mrs. Jack Goodfellow and daughter, Jackie, of Piedmont. The Cummings also have as house guests Mrs. Walter McManus and daughter, Salgi Lei.

Vacationing... Stuart Manners, of Piedmont, with his sister, Mrs. Paul Porter, of Rancho del Monte.

Folk dancing and square dancing enthusiasts from Carmel, Monterey, Salinas and Carmel Valley enjoyed an evening of dancing beside and around the pool, which was lighted by torches at the Club. Special Hawaiian numbers were danced by Miss Marilyn Reeves, of Salinas, and by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bird, of Corral de Tierra.

Horse Show Big Success

The newly formed Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association can be and is very proud of the show they put on last Sunday in the arena at Holman's. The parade started at the Bean Pot and had 63 riders in it. At the arena cars and horses milling about dotted the blue horizon. Kenny Baker as master of ceremonies was friendly and effective.

The riders and audience were mostly local, from neighboring towns. The events were limited to members of the club and their guests, and it was surprising how many contestants there were for each event. It was an impressive show for an association less than two months old to organize and put over so successfully. It speaks well for the plans for the future - to open trails and develop generally the missing links for horsemen in this valley.

The following events were won as follows:

Roy Fellows and Barbara Miller were judged to be the best dressed cowboy and cowgirl; Vic Silva and Irene Piazoni were chosen as the best dressed adult pair.

Trail Horse Class: Margaret Roberts, first prize; Larry Roberts, second prize; Betty Smith, third prize; Irene Piazoni, fourth prize; Calf Riding: Larry Roberts, first; Stan Tayler, second; Don Cummings, third; Larry Cummings, fourth.

Stake Race, under 12 years: Larry Roberts, first; Bill Sprague, second; Dick McKenzie, third; Walter Delaney, fourth.

Single Steer Stopping: Leo Violini, first; Ray Hotch, second; Pat Barton, third.

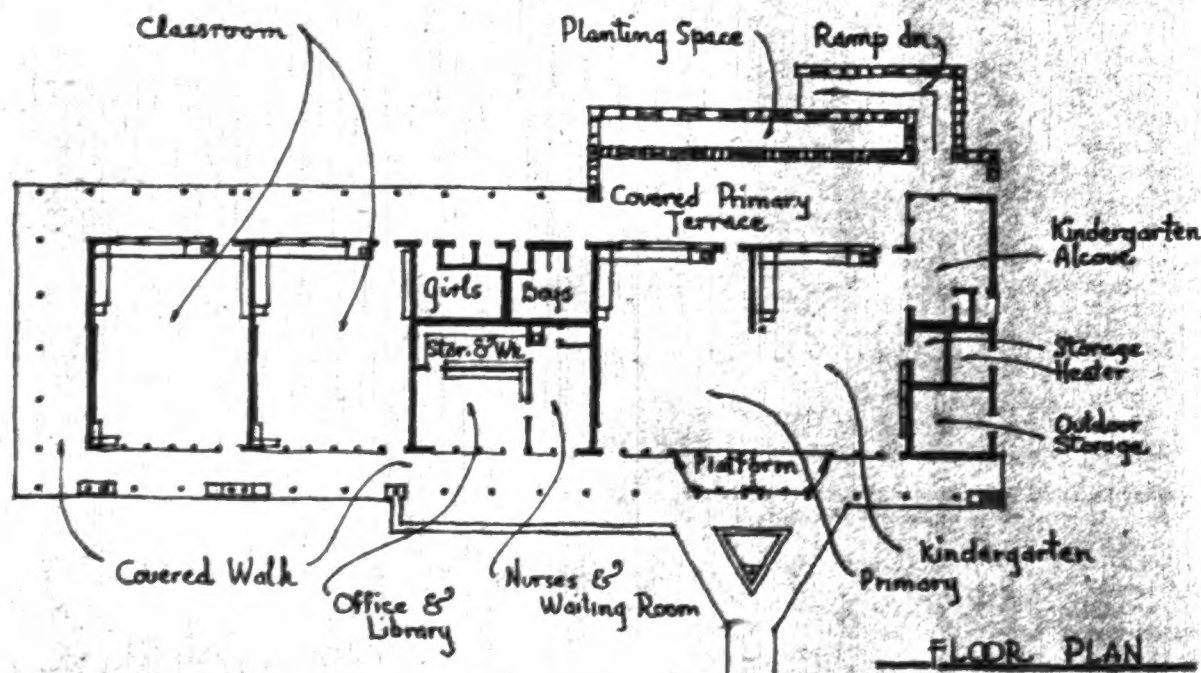

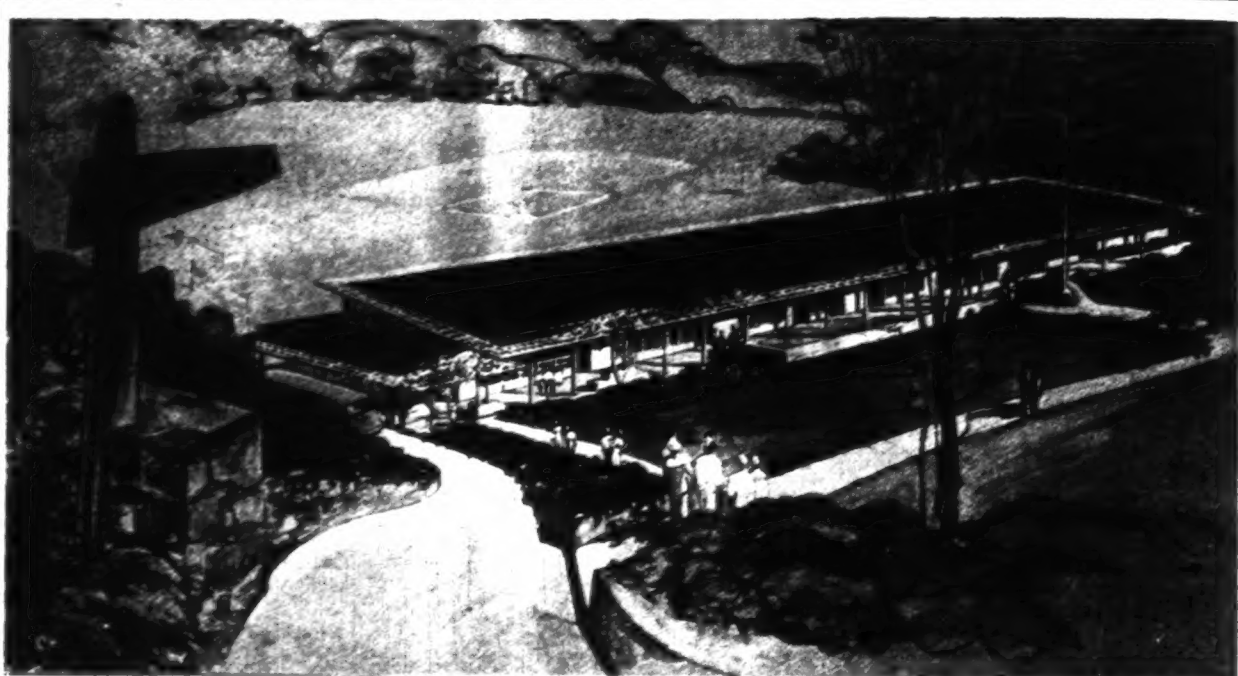

Musical Chairs: Bill Friabee, first; Barbara Church, second; Roy Fellows, third; Leigh Buchanan, fourth.

Stake Race - Adults: Ray Hockworth, first; Billy Lambert, second; Frank Logan, third; Joe McGrava, fourth.

Hackamore Class: Marvin Roberts, Sr., first; Marvin Roberts, Jr., second; Ray Hockworth, third; Vic Silva, fourth.

Horsemanship - under 12: Betty Nicks, first; Tommie Nicks, second; Jimmie Violini, third; Leigh Buchanan, fourth.

Horsemanship - over 12 years old: Larry Roberts, first; Roy Fellows, second; Marvin Roberts, Jr.,

JANET BUCHANAN ARNOLD

The Carmel Valley Property Owners Association is to be congratulated for the organizational work it has done in connection with the County Building Code Permit Order now pending for 90 days. The association and other civic groups have promoted the 90 day reprieve, which means suggestions for amendments or changes must be up before the board within two months. The Carmel Valley Business and Professional Association is behind the effort, and a committee made up of Louis Moore, Herb Brownell and William Wood has been named to study how we can act most effectively to change this impending bill. It is said to be a gross example of the invasion of personal rights.

So far there have been 109 responses to a drive for membership in the Property Owners Association, which certainly proves our interest in civic affairs. The first general meeting of all members will probably be held within two weeks. See the calendar for definite dates.

Officers of the association include William Wood, president; Horace Ayres, first vice-president; E. J. Hergenhan, second vice-president; Alex Dobie, secretary; Gen. Ernest Dawley, treasurer. Directors are: Lieut.-Cmdr. Charles Ashley, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Grant Risdon, John Caldwell, G. F. Whitcomb, Mrs. H. Fletcher and J. Johnson.

The taxi service has been busy mostly with trips to Monterey and Salinas and a few local calls. A listing of such trips may be seen at the new office of the Carmel Valley Realty Company along the Airway Strip.

Robert Stanton has invited all interested persons to stop in at his Carmel offices to look at the plans for the new Tularcitos School. It is up to the taxpayers and parents to evince such interest that the plans may be expedited and the school become a reality, if not in January as planned, as soon thereafter as possible.

Most of the male teenagers can now tie knots right along with Skipper at the Hitching Post.

If it had not been for the Volunteer Fire Service last Saturday the house owned by James Blackman would certainly have burned to the ground and perhaps several neighboring homes. We are fortunate to have such a service available and such ardent volunteers that in one instance a young baby was hastily, if inadvertently, driven to the Fire House, and several wives were deserted while shopping along the Airway Strip. Every Valleyite is proud of this service and grateful. It has been suggested that, as spectators have a way of arriving on the scene before the organization equipped to fight the fire, some arrangement be made to control the traffic so that automobiles do not inhibit in any way the parking and efficiency of the fire fighting crew.

The Business and Professional Association met last Tuesday and decided to choose a committee to go ahead and purchase illuminated signs for the business district and neighboring sections. It was also decided to aid the Carmel Valley Property Association in every possible way in the formulation of amendments for the proposed new Building Code Permit Order coming up within the next 90 days. Besides the promotion of general welfare for the Valley this association is rapidly broadening its scope to include the activities of a Valley Chamber of Commerce. This has been evidenced by the number of recent inquiries as to population, and extent of general interest in establishing our own valley service of medical, dental and eventually nursing home facilities. It would indeed be interesting to have a poll of such interested citizens available. Anyone who feels strongly either way is encouraged to write or telephone to either the Spectator, Carmel 2040, or in care of Janet Arnold at the White Oak Inn, 14-J/4.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles, of the Carousel, have returned to New York for the fall season at Le Valois on Madison Avenue. It's nice for valleyites to know there is a place in New York where they will be welcomed in the same friendly manner as they have become accustomed in the Valley this summer.

The new road shows great progress in the growing list of agreements being made between Mr. Hayes and his office and the valley residents involved. The following persons have already agreed to property right settlements: John Billman, Murray Vaut, Robert Eddy, Eleanor Montgomery, Mrs. Sam Miller, Mrs. Arthur Shand, Mrs. Frances Andrews, and George Haldorn. The actual road building can begin as scheduled October 1 when the few remaining agreements between valleyites and the county have been reached.

William K. Broyles is opening a radio and electrical appliance and repair shop in Bealla's Hardwood Store. Mr. Broyles has been doing similar work in Houston, Texas, for the past 15 years. His family is settled in the Victor C. Davis house in Robles Del Rio.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Pike, of Pasadena, visited Marian Pike and Charles Harper at Lazy Oaks - a pleasant interlude in their visit to the Bay area.

Folk dancing has really hit the Valley, and beside the Rancho del Monte Country Club was enjoyed at the Carmel Valley Inn and at the Farm Center.

Canning peaches are available at the Farm Center and the most delectable begonia blooms are being sold in dozen lots for table decorations at the Begonia Garden, now in bloom, five miles out the Valley.

Holman's Guest Ranch held a shindig - an old-fashioned farm dance - following the Horse Show staged recently by the Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association. The place got so popular for the weekend they had to cancel all extra reservations until today. Adolph Menjou was a recent visitor.

The White Oak Inn lately has been boasting visitors from New York and Connecticut. Come winter it will be the scene of social get-togethers for persons interested in crafts either theoretically or actively, and will offer coffee and cake too. Perhaps, Johnnie Arthur will rend a tune or two for those who wish to come. John is continuing to mend oriental rugs, and to embroider cuffs and collars on cashmere sweaters - a recent rage imported from the eastern seaboard.

Lions, not the kind that roam Africa, nor yet the boys who meet weekly in so many American cities, but the Carmel Valley types (real lions, in fact) have been reported recently by several valleyites.

Peninsula.

The program is scheduled to last about an hour and a half. There is no admission fee.

WHITE-PEZZUTO NUPTIALS

Marilyn White became the bride of Alexander Pezzuto Saturday at the Carmel Mission. Father Joseph E. McGoldrick read the 10:30 Nuptial Mass which united the couple. The altar of the Historic Mission was decorated with white stock and gladiolus and tall tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Thomas F. White, of San Francisco, chose a bouffant white satin gown fashioned with tight fitting bodice, buttoned front and back with tiny buttons from neckline to waistline. A small peter pan collar was edged in beading and her net cap which held an illusion veil was edged in the same beading. Her full skirt ended in a long train. She carried a white orchid with her prayer book.

Miss Eleanor Reed, of San Francisco, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a soft blue satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, tight fitting bodice and a full skirt. She wore a tiara of the same material in her hair and carried a nosegay of pink and blue hyacinths.

Robert Jacobs, of Santa Clara, served as best man. There were no ushers.

Mrs. White chose for her daughter's wedding a beige suit with which she wore brown accessories and pinned on a purple orchid. The groom's mother, Mrs. Donate Pezzuto, chose a sand beige crepe dress with which she wore rust accessories and brown orchids.

The new Mrs. Pezzuto is a graduate of Dominican College and St. Joseph's College of Nursing.

The bridegroom's parents are the Donate Pezzutos, of Crockett, and he has two sisters, Mary and Angela, who were also present at the wedding. He is a graduate of Santa Clara University and is now in business in Crockett where the couple will make their home.

A wedding breakfast for the immediate families followed at Del Monte Lodge, where toasts were drunk and the wedding cake cut.

Eye Openers on the Peninsula WITH Betsy Abbott

PARENTS, as well as their vacation-weary offspring are, to put it mildly, school conscious these days. Where Junior and Sister will go this year... Schools, plus extra curricular courses in Music... Dancing... Art... Riding must all be decided upon. Books augmenting studies, books and games for recreation hours... and all that goes with must all come within the budget! Watch Betsy Abbott's EYE-OPENERS.

In Carmel's unique woodland surroundings, a blend of home and the newest and best in child training, the FOREST HILL SCHOOL, under the direction of Miss G. Ann Douglass is attracting the attention of educators and parents throughout the country. A Boarding as well as a Day School for children from 2½ to 8 years, it solves the problems of child development and care for many busy parents. The Nursery School is open to children from 2½ to 4 years old. Kindergarten, 4 to 5 years. Primary grades (up to grade 3) in which standard text books are used, children 5½ through 8 years of age... A pedagogic of renown Miss Douglass emphasizes the importance of supervised play as well as thoughtfully graded learning. Her staff, equipment and atmosphere are all attuned to the happiness as well as the mental and physical development of her young students. A hot mid-day meal and rest are features of the nursery and kindergarten programs. Music, French, arts and crafts are offered to primary grade registrants, (horse-back riding is optional). Parents who have visited the spacious sunny house in the woods will always hold dear their view of a veritable "little girl and boy land." Young graduates of the FOREST HILL SCHOOL go well equipped in learning, sound emotional balance and physical well being - ready to face and cope with a wider world. Enrollment now may be made for a limited number of Boarding as well as Day pupils. FOREST HILL SCHOOL, Mission and 1st, CARMEL, Phone Carmel 2213. Write P.O. Box 1835 for Illustrated Catalogue.

The DOROTHY DEAN SCHOOL OF DANCING, now in its fourth year on the Peninsula, is open for registration. The classes for children from 3 to 12... for teenagers... for adults... beginners, intermediate and advanced, are in ballet, ball-room and folk dancing technique. Miss Dean, who herself is constantly working with "big name" teachers and soloists of the world of dance was responsible for bringing the world famed choreographer and teacher, Adolf Bolm here to teach last year. She promises the return of Mr. Bolm and other celebrated teachers this year. She has won wide popularity through her Junior Assembly Classes, and adult Folk Dancing groups, as well as an outstanding reputation for her development of poise, self reliance and deportment in young children. For class registrations in Carmel and Monterey, call Monterey 6240, residence 4374. DOROTHY DEAN STUDIO, in the Old Pacific Bldg., 233 Scott Street, Monterey.

Emphasizing the importance of an understanding of theory, the development of musical appreciation and technique Angie Machado, with 2½ years experience as supervisor of music in Sunset and Carmel High School brings to her teaching of piano wealth of understanding of the beginners' problems. "I feel that with the youngest students at least two lessons a week are highly important. Ideally, one lesson should be entirely private when the student is taught keyboard technique and correlation. During the second period, with at least one more student present, bad habits in hand position can be forestalled, stimulation through ear training developed, and self consciousness banished." Miss Machado, an outstanding personality in Carmel music circles because of her years as a concert pianist and accompanist as well as her years of teaching children and adults, is now taking registrations for fall classes and private instruction for beginners... intermediate and advanced students. She is also happily available as an accompanist for instrumentalists or vocalists, for practice hours or concert appearances. ANGIE MACHADO MUSIC STUDIO, SANTA FE AND 6th. TEL. CARMEL 792R.

Knitting, as you like it, is attracting Carmel clickity-click enthusiasts to the pink-walled room on the second floor of the SPECTATOR Building at 7th and Lincoln Streets. - KAY'S KNITTING KLINIC. Plus a beautiful and comprehensive selection of yarns, and a heaven-sent collection of needles, Mrs. Alice Kraul and Miss Esther Kopke will demonstrate for you the new wonder knitting machine - the Passap Knitter. Small enough to belong in any sewing room, decorative enough for the living room, the Passap Knitter is as simple as A B C to operate, and - fascinating! News for mothers! For busy little fingers, - a children's after school class in knitting is in formation! Knitting problems or no, don't miss a visit to KAY'S KNITTING KLINIC, Lincoln and 7th.

Unique, even in Carmel, where educational opportunities are so widely diversified, is the RHYTHM COURSE offered by Kathryn Lansdowne for children from 4 to 18 years of age. "The three R's are not enough for modern education," Mrs. Lansdowne states. "The fourth R - Rhythm - is not only essential for the development of balance and poise, - it is the child's natural awakening to music. Singing games, nursery rhymes set to music, folk tunes - are the beginning. The child's musical ear is attuned, the body responds. Adult appreciation of music has its beginning in the baby's response to rhythmic sound, - and the response is in bodily movement as well as in listening..." Mrs. Lansdowne, one of the Peninsula's outstanding teachers of piano, makes a unique contribution toward the development of bodily grace and poise of her students as well as giving them an entirely fresh approach to the study and appreciation of music. For Registration for Classes commencing in September, call KATHRYN LANS-DOWNE, Carmel 1368M. Classes held in the June Delight Studio on Mission Street.

Causing a furor of excitement amongst artists of the Peninsula is the Frederic Taubes course on the technique of oil painting, now in progress at the Carmel Art Institute, sponsors of the course. Mr. Taubes, an artist of world renown, Fellow of the Royal Society of Art in London, is also a writer of highest rank. "Studio Secrets" and "You Don't Know What You Like" are among his provocative titles. The course has daily morning sessions, August 23 to Sept. 3. Mr. Taubes will lecture at the Carmel Art Association Galleries the evening of Aug. 29 on "Fashions in Art." For full information call the CARMEL ART INSTITUTE, SEVEN ARTS COURT, CARMEL 1850.

Modern instruction for children and adults in piano, Hammond organ and Solovox... classical, popular and keyboard harmony are available at WESTON'S SCHOOL OF MUSIC. Through years of experience, Mrs. Ruth Weston has gained an enviable reputation for her methods with beginners as well as advanced students in private or class lessons. She has developed a program of thorough yet interesting foundation work for children for whom she gives free talent tests. Holiday parties and musicals afford ample opportunity for solo appearances. A service that will delight busy mothers is Mrs. Weston's supervised practice hours for small children. The Fall term opens September 1st and enrollment may be made now at WESTON'S SCHOOL OF MUSIC, Ocean Ave. in Hatton Fields, Tel. Carmel 148-W.

TROUPERS PRESENT "LOLA MONTEZ"

"Lola Montez," comedy-melodrama written by Melena Burns Denny for the Troupers of the Gold Coast, opens tonight at California's First Theatre, Monterey, and will run every night from now through Centennial Week, except on Wednesday, when the theatre will be dark. After this first run, which will close on September 4, "Lola" will run on Saturday and Sunday nights only.

Said Riza, the gifted Turk instructor at the School of Language whose brilliant acting has been the highlight of more than one Carmel Golden Bough Playhouse production, is directing "Lola," and playing the part of King Ludwig, the Bavarian King who succumbed to the charms and magnetism of the bewitching Lola.

Dee Olivetti is cast as Lola Montez, the "upcountry Queen of Bavaria," the incredibly beautiful adventuress who swept like a blazing comet across Europe and was a glittering figure in California during the Gold Rush Days.

EYE OPENERS

By Candlelight... your home, no matter how simple, how elegant, takes on an added beauty. And today, in Carmel, there are candles such as you have never seen before. Pyramids that unfurl as they burn, into exquisite forms... the Witches Tower of myriad colors... Snowballs, in pastels that glow through the frosting... Squares and Rounds that burn down the center only leaving their sides intact. And don't miss the perfumed, liquifying creations in their own pottery bowls ($1.00 each!) These, and the Oranges with the true fruit perfume (75¢ single; $1.75, two-in-a-plate for mailing) are rare penny-pincher gifts! CANDLES OF CARMEL, Golden Bough Court, Ocean Avenue is under new ownership and their unique stock is a joy! P.S. Yes, they have Canasta cards!

Adventures in food that will take you 'round the world! From far away places, - Wines and Champagnes from France... Heineken's Beer from Holland... Bass Ale from England... Romanoff Caviar from Russia... Cheeses from Switzerland, Norway, Denmark. These are only a few of the Delicacies of the world that are yours for your choosing when you plan your menus from the shelves of ALLADIN'S LAMP, 591 HARTNELL STREET, MONTEREY. TEL. MONTEREY 2-1449.

Household Hint

Continuous exposure to sunlight weakens curtain fabrics. Tests show that curtains usually weaken in the lower area faster than at the top where shades protect them. To counteract this, when you make curtains, put equal size hems at the top and bottom of the curtains so that they can be reversed after laundering.

To Show California Missions In Miniature At Centennial

Replicas of the 21 California Missions, complete and authentic to the nth degree, will be a featured exhibit at Monterey's Centennial Village. Constructed at a cost of more than $80,000, the exquisitely-fashioned miniatures, each only a few inches in height, brought in thousands of dollars for the Sister Kenny Polio Foundation during a recent nationwide tour.

More than five and one half years went into research and construction of the tiny structures. In several cases, exhaustive inquiry into religious archives was necessary, inasmuch as few traces of some of the original Missions remained.

Forming part of the Mission exhibit is a cyclorama representing six hundred miles of coast line from San Diego to the San Francisco Bay area with topography faithful to each Mission area.

OPERA STAR

Florence Quartararo, California's golden-voiced Metropolitan Opera star, will sing in the pageant at the Centennial here - not just once but on eight nights. Miss Quartararo will play the role of a Spanish beauty in a gay balcony scene.

When the singer travels to Monterey for the opening performance of the pageant on Aug. 29 it will be the second time in six weeks that she has crossed the continent to aid the centennial celebrations of her native state.

New entries are being received daily for the big Centennial parade. Well over a hundred units are now listed and the bands, floats, marchers and all the colorful pomp and pageantry will probably take three hours to pass the reviewing stand opposite the old Customs House. Governor Earl Warren will join the parade which will be marshaled by State Senator Fred Weybret. There will be stress on Monterey Peninsula history by the entries from this area. The parade will start on Lighthouse Avenue in New Monterey and cover a mile-long route past the Presidio and on to Alvarado Street.

HORSE SHOW

In order that the pageants, parades and color background of the Centennial may be of the very best, Reno Sardella, Tuolumne County stockman and rancher, has been put in charge of the horse problem and horse program.

Sardella - known far and wide just as "Reno" - provided all horses and riders for most western movies filmed north of the Tehachapi Mountains and has medals for trick riding and rodeo competition.

VISITORS - WHY NOT ADOPT THE SPECTATOR AS YOUR SECOND "HOME TOWN" PAPER.

INVESTMENT TRUSTS

For your information phone or write for the Booklet which will inform you on these questions:

- (1) What is an Investment Trust?
- (2) What will it do for me?
- (3) May I start with a small sum?
- (4) Are these trusts regulated by the government?

Your CONGRESSMAN REPORTS

ERNEST K. BRAMBLETT, M. C.

One of the big questions being asked around Washington these days is "how long is ECA going to last?" With some uneasiness about unemployment in various sections of the country and with the tax burden continued high, some Members of Congress, and I am one of them, are beginning to wonder whether we haven't just about scraped the last dollar off the bottom of the barrel. One thing is certain: before we start taking care of the people of other countries, our obligation is to take care of our own people. Personally, I'm very disappointed in the operations of ECA up to date. We get reports the results that were hoped for have not been accomplished and from all appearances we will be asked to put up more money. Our funds, in some instances, are being used to the detriment of our own people. Take the situation of our California fresh and dried fruit industry, just as an example. The bottom has fallen out as far as prices are concerned because our products are not going into foreign trade channels. When ECA was under consideration, one of the big pleas to obtain votes from the California Congressional Delegation was how ECA would help us regain markets which, in some years, took up to 40 per cent of our crops. Not only are none of these goods going to the countries which certainly could use them, but our own taxpayers' dollars are being used to finance trade agreements among the participating nations which will shut our products out of our former markets forever. This is the first time I've ever heard of anybody setting fire to Santa Claus' whiskers. A show-down over the whole ECA program is long overdue.

In my present frame of mind, I doubt if I will vote for another ECA appropriation because the so-called global thinkers don't include the United States of America in their thinking. The other California Members of Congress and myself agree we should do everything possible to build up world trade and to do that, other nations must have market outlets. But it certainly doesn't make sense to me to try and bring about world stability by disrupting our own normal outlets.

ECA has sort of an arrogant attitude about the whole matter, which is hard to take. The perfect man was born 2,000 years ago and died on a cross. There have been none since, not even administering ECA.

There have been petulant, childish remarks that if Congress didn't write a blank check somebody would resign, and so there! No one is so good he can't be replaced, which I think the founding fathers may have had in mind when they provided for elections every once in a while, instead of a government by bureaucracy.

I think the House made a big mistake in deleting money in the ECA appropriation for our Congressional watchdog committee. The Committee, by keeping an eye on ECA operations in 16 countries, has saved the taxpayers millions of dollars.

Saving $344,000 at the cost of wasting millions doesn't sound like economy to me.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Ernest Bixler, Carmel postmaster, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" A resident of Carmel since 1929, Mr. Bixler came here as a superintendent for the former Marshall Building Co., and one year later went into the contracting business for himself. During the next 10 years he built many of the beautiful homes you see around the village and following his appointment as postmaster he has continued to design homes. Mr. Bixler served almost three years with the CB's in the South Pacific during the war. He not only has two children: Bruce and Laurel, but has two grand children, the baby girls of his daughter, who is married to John Fosness and resides in Southern California. As a civic-minded citizen, Mr. Bixler serves on the Carmel Planning Commission; as a hobbyist, he goes in for gardening and keeps up one of the most attractive gardens on the Hatton Fields Mesa.
